

Senior Salute

Sam

Sam, a guy with a quiet kind of determination, is our choice for Senior boy of the month. He applies himself to everything he undertakes, be it studies or athletics. Sam's interests include football, track, the Spring Show, and the formation of his own dance band. His future plans include Seton Hall College, where we are sure he will be successful in the attainment of his goals.

Lorraine

There's always some excitement afoot when Lorraine is around. One of our peppiest cheerleaders, she has a natural zeal for fun. Her interests include blind dates, chem. Lab(?) and talking. Lorraine has been accepted to Glassboro State and plans to become a history teacher. We are all sure her students will enjoy this pert young lady in the classroom.

G.C.I.

By Barbara Domanski

You cannot begin to imagine how happy I was upon receiving a letter from the Pompton Lakes Woman's Club informing me that I had been chosen to attend Citizenship Institute for Girls at Douglas College.

This program, which takes place from June 15 through June 18, is a wonderful experience for any girl. At GCI girls from various schools receive training in good citizenship, as they are made aware of their privileges, obligations and responsibilities as citizens. Lectures deal with the government of New Jersey and the agencies and services it offers. Good fellowship and fine sportsmanship offer a fun-filled week.

Delegates Chosen

Every year Pompton Lakes High School submits several outstanding junior girls as prospective delegates to Girl's State. This program, sponsored by the American Legion, offers the opportunity of gaining insight into our government, and actually participating in its functions.

Previous to March 20, the jingling of telephones beckoned ten girls to the joyous news of their candidacy. The candidates were: Carol Ann Bednarek, Nadyne Gerres, Jean Kinsey, Cheryl Mathes, Karen Medlon, Bonnie Mussell, Sandra Prestipino, Helen Sachs, Linda Sherwood and Janet Siegler. They were also informed that their interview would be on March 20. Everyone arrived that night at the American Legion Hall with conflicting and exaggerated impressions of the decisive interview. The fog of doubt was soon cleared as they were informed that a semi-circle of women, not a hundred, were to witness and judge their questioning. Each girl was called individually, and in alphabetical order, introduced to the judges and asked identical questions. The questions were general, ranging from those which required explanation to a simple affirmative or negative answer. Their category encompassed both civil and personal aspects. As each girl completed that phase, she breathed a sigh of relief, and was permitted to hear the girls that followed her. Every one of the girls displayed poise, eloquence and sincerity in her answers, which made it difficult for the judges. The girls returned home that night with a bit of relief and a bushel of anxiety.

The following day the telephones were busy once again - this time conveying the results. CONGRATULATIONS to Cheryl Mathes, Bonnie Mussell and Carol Ann Bednarek, who were chosen as delegates, and to Jean Kinsey, Helen Sachs and Janet Siegler, who were chosen as alternates. The "Cardinal" staff wishes them luck and we are sure they will work hard that last week in June at Douglass College.

Quill and Scroll

Each year, members of the "Cardinal" and "Pioneer" staffs receive a reward for their hard work - induction into Quill and Scroll.

Quill and Scroll is a national honorary literary society which publishes its own magazines. Its members are chosen on the basis of their interest and hard work on behalf of the school newspaper or yearbook. All facets of journalism are considered.

Although not a widely publicized club, Quill and Scroll gives an opportunity for recognition of its members' notable efforts in the field of journalism. This year's members are Carol Ann Bednarek, Bonnie Mussell, Anita Greenberg, Michael Eisemann, Jane McCarthy, Marlene Hevia, Anita Hubbard and Penny Balestrino.

Jessi '64

The Junior Engineers and Scientists Summer Institute (JESSI) program for 1964 is again set.

This program, open to both boys and girls in all sections of the country in grades 11 and 12, is sponsored by Scientists of Tomorrow, a non-profit organization dedicated to public service.

The JESSI program takes two weeks and begins after the close of school in June. It is held for area students at Lehigh University in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania. This year's participants are two Junior boys, John Stone and John Miller.

JESSI, now in its ninth year, offers orientation in the sciences and engineering by featuring courses in these fields. By lecture, demonstration, and laboratory procedure, JESSI participants are given insight into possible future careers in science, math and engineering.

Concert Set

Yes, it's spring again. We all know that April showers bring May flowers, but that's not all. April means the annual band concert, this year on Saturday, April 24.

This year the concert will be bigger and better than ever, consisting of almost 250 of our high school musicians and majorettes. All music lovers will enjoy such numbers as "Music from Music Man," "Nutcracker Suite," and a special novelty number "The Three Bears and Little Goldilocks."

Under the able direction of Mr. Daniel Sobchock the Concert Band, Symphonic Band, Stage Band and Elementary School Band will provide splendid and enjoyable entertainment.

Featured will be Bob Senior, Walter Dale, and Sam Faucetta in a trumpet trio entitled "Trumpets Wild." Other trios will be formed by Paul Williams, Cheryl Weatherwalks and John Tredrea exhibiting their talents in "Trumpetango," and Lynn Blomquist, Anita Hubbard and Sheila Richards, our talented clarinet players, playing "Waltzing Clarinets."

All this fun and enjoyment can be yours on April 24. Mark that date on you calendar.

Leaders

Recently Pompton Lakes Elks presented their annual "Youth Leadership" awards. The primary objective of the contest was to encourage the youth of today to participate in the spiritual, scholastic, and social activities available to them in their community.

The first place winner was Carolyn Wood, a senior. Runner-up awards were presented to Cheryl Weatherwalks and Dolly Thie, also seniors. The girls each received a United States Savings Bond at a special ceremony at the Elks Hall, which their parents attended. Congratulations to these deserving girls.

Graduation Speakers

You The Individual

How many of us are really individuals? It is true that we all differ in one way or another, but our social life, in a broad sense of the term, is greatly conformed. It is quite obvious that this is an age of "going along with the crowd." Most people want to be liked, and for this reason it's only natural for us to be concerned about other people's opinions of us. Nevertheless, this should not be the only guide to our judgments.

There are a great number of things which we would not do for fear of being harassed. To overcome this takes courage and true character. Being an individual doesn't necessarily mean one has to make a spectacle of himself. There are more sensible ways of going about this, and we are given opportunities to be individuals every day by doing the right thing. How many of you would take the time to be creative when it's easier to copy? Would you take the blame for something you've done after someone else had been blamed for it? Would you do a favor for your teacher without being afraid of being labeled?

Would you go out of your way to be nice to someone you don't particularly like? Would you defend a right principle when everyone was against you? How many times do we truly do the right thing when it may actually "hurt"? We have become so addicted to a conformed way of life, that we tend to feel everything we do as a society is right. Maybe we have been overlooking the real "right things." This may seem like "preaching" because you all know the difference between right and wrong, but choosing the former one is not as easy as it sounds. Try it sometime and find out what kind of person you really are.

Art Awards

Miss Knapp previously entered eleven outstanding pieces of art work in the Scholastic Art Exhibition, which was held from February 22 to March 7. During this time, North Jersey high schools were given the opportunity of having their entries chosen for exhibition and judging at Sealfon's in Ridgewood. Of our eleven entries, eight were entered into the judging and deemed awards of merit. They included oils, scratchboards, pencil sketches, and ceramics.

Those art students whose works were submitted were Penny Balestrino, Carol Ann Bednarek, Jane Hickey, Detra Prete and Helen Sachs. Four of the pictures were awarded the highest honor, the Gold Key. These winners were Jane Hickey, Detra Prete and Carol Ann Bednarek. Winning works were scratchboards by Carol Ann and Detra and oils by Jane. Jane Hickey's pencil sketch of a guitar player was chosen as finalist for the national contest. Congratulations to these talented people.

Vital Statistics

by Peter Mandle

Ever wonder where the names of the months come from? You probably stay up at night thinking about it, and think about it for hours at a time when you should be doing your homework.

Well, you're finally going to find out where those illustrious names came from.

January comes from the Latin word for door, because January opens the door to a new year. February is derived from the Latin Februarius, a Latin feast held at this time of year. March comes from the Latin god of war. They tried to hold their wars during this month. April is derived from the Latin word for hospital, where most Romans went after March. May comes from the Latin Maius, meaning gods, because all the Romans prayed to the gods so that they could pay their expensive hospital bills.

The Latin word for June was Junius, meaning suicide, because when they couldn't pay their hospital bills, this was the only way out. July was named for Julius

Show Biz

Let me begin by saying that we started out with at least three ingredients were sure of - a weak plot, the irrepressible ham instinct in most of us, and the assurance that, even if the outcome was a bomb, our relatives had promised to laugh. A high school play is a true lesson in perseverance. You can't imagine what flubbing the same lines, night after night, can do to a person, unless you've experienced it. Many a would-be actor's flame of enthusiasm was extinguished by this affair, the Service Club production of "Bachelor Father."

Seriously though, as bad as any play may be, when opening night arrives, and the cast is fussing hysterically over make-up and costumes, things begin to acquire a glossier appearance. Everyone develops a serious desire to do the very best he can no matter what. And so, although not meriting any rave reviews from THE NEW YORK TIMES, we felt the play went off very well.

Many thanks to our director, Mrs. Bialkin.

Hi-Ho Silver!

Hey, gang, here is an excellent problem for all you avid T.V. lovers. Do you recall?:

Gene Autry's horse - (Champion)
Roy Roger's dog - (Bullet)
Lone Ranger's mighty steed - (Hi-Ho Silver)
Cisco Kid's partner - (Pancho)
Wild Bill Hickock's comrade - (Jingles)
Andy Gang's star attraction - (Gunga)
Arthur Godfrey's horse - (Goldie)
Rootie Kazootie's arch enemy - (Poison Zumac)
Howdy Doody's sweetheart - (Clarabelle)
Soupy Sales' best friend - (White Fang)

Can anyone remember Hopalong Cassidy's Horse? Clues: color - white, bridle - black, temperament - sweet, the winner will receive a free issue of the "Cardinal!"

Caesar. August was named in honor of Augustus Caesar, October for the eighth month and November for the ninth month.

December, scientists have recently discovered, comes from the Latin word for Pogo Stick.

Romans were very fond of pogo sticks. They even had tandem pogo sticks. Many Roman events were centered around the pogo stick. Julius Caesar came to power through the use of the pogo stick. (The Gauls had never seen one before.) When Caesar said "I've crossed the Rubicon," he was happy because he had just jumped across the Rubicon at its widest point, and set a new world's pogo stick jumping record. The previous record was set by Hannibal when he and his elephants jumped the Po River in the Alps. Well, the Romans were so proud of Julius for capturing the record for Rome, that they made him dictator for life.

Wasted Words

by Carol Hausman

Funny how much you can observe about your fellow students during a lifeless Monday morning study period! Although still in the clutches of an "end of the weekend coma," each inhabitant manages to employ a different technique, developed in the hopes of combating inflicted boredom. After approximately the first 30 seconds, everyone is more or less settled and ready to avoid any possible accomplishment in the form of work. Thus begins the search for some type of entertainment suited to the present surroundings. Take for instance, John and Fred at the next table. Right now they are busy with various sound imitations...that last one was a water fountain; I believe the elephant stampede is next. The group to the right is engaged in a yawning contest, the rules of which are quite simple. One merely attempts to top his competitors in terms of loudness and amount of tonsil area exposed. This is an extremely spirited and exacting sport, as you can well imagine. The seniors seem most proficient.

Directing my gaze to the far corner of our illustrious cafeteria, I perceive some definite form of activity. That particular cluster of humanity seems to be engaged in a sort of stamping process. (I know this sounds silly, but I thought I heard the word "termite" mentioned.)

The boy in back of me is in a slight panic. It seems that in the midst of doing nothing, both his feet fell asleep, and he doubts if they will be functioning before the passing bell.

Of all these ingenious, time-consuming operations, I believe the fellow next to me has discovered the very best solution. He enters quietly, and with a studious air, stacks his books in front of him. Then with a contented sigh, he enjoys forty minutes of complete oblivion - sound asleep.

Junior

Prom

Fashions

Colorful creations, pastels, if you please, lacy floor-lengths - all were viewed at the 1964 Junior Prom. The girls decided to dress really formal this year. Their arrival at the Chanticleer was the beginning of one of the most glorious and unforgettable evenings of their lives.

This year's attire included a long floor-length formal which give the impression of one that barely touches the floor. Fabrics ranged from pretty peau de soie to silk organza enhanced by a layer of delicate lace. The majority of styles were belle skirts, scoop necks and backs, and thin shoulder straps. The wide cummerbund effect was seen on many of the formals. Colors were fantastic this year, ranging from blushing pink to warming yellow to icy blue. Short toppers and fur stoles were worn over the gowns.

Long length formals meant something new was seen in the glove and shoe departments. Shoes and pocketbooks were dyed to match the gown and were even dusted with glitter. For that slimming majestic effect, girls wore long white gloves which extended from the tips of their fingers to the elbow. Still others wore white mits. Many girls found that a tiara could gracefully adorn their new hairdo and set off their formal just beautifully.

Girls looked as pretty as a picture in fabulous formals with delicate accessories as they and their handsome looking beaux, attired in white dinner jackets, drove up to the Chanticleer and walked down a white marble stairway to spend a most exclusive, unforgettable and enjoyable evening.

U.N Contest

In March of this year six people of our school took the test for the "United Nations Pilgrimage for Youth" Contest. It was sponsored by the Wortendyke Odd-Fellow Lodge. Applicants had to be sixteen or seventeen years of age and a Sophomore or Junior in high school.

The six students were: Ruth Friedner, Helen Woolf, Jim Dockery, Mona Miller, John Stone and Kathy Conner. The program for this school was under the direction of Mrs. Usinowicz. Of these, six, one winner and an alternate were chosen. The winner will visit the United Nations behind the scenes and will be a guest for one evening. He will tour New York City and some metropolitan areas and spend a day at the New York World's Fair.

On April sixth an announcement was made that Kathy Conner was the winner and John Stone was the alternate. Congratulations to two deserving students.

Cardinal Nine Ready For Big Season

This year's Cardinal nine looks like it might be a carbon copy of last year's highly successful 14-6 team, which included a victory in the state tournament. Although there were several big losses due to graduation, Mr. McKenzie can look forward to getting some good plays from several of last year's replacements, and a few new hustlers.

The big losses are Buck Gormley, Bob Edge, Mark Kaelin, Paul Silbert and John Konowitz, all of whom greatly contributed to last year's fortunes. However, the replacements are all capable, consisting of the Big Four: Larry Ball, Warren Knight, Jim Coutts and Kenny Willis. There is also a flock of others, most of whom did not see a great deal of action last year.

The latter group consists of Glenn Hazen, Bruce Berringer, Ed McDermott, Ken Ball and Jim Herron. Add newcomer Andy Jordan, who is battling Ken Ball for the second base job, and Freshmen Dale Garlick, Andy Luciani, Howard Susskind and Jim Grossi to the list.

Ball, most valuable player in the Trends area last year, batted .407 and had an 8-3 record as a pitcher. He is co-captain, along with Warren Knight (.346) who is the take-charge guy and a fine right fielder. Willis (.386) also made the Trends all-star team and is backed up at first base by Dennis Corbett, a junior. Coutts, a two-year starter and letterman at third base, will be moved behind the plate this year, to handle the catching chores. He is backed up by John Stone, the starting third baseman, who can also don the catching gear.

Coach of the year in the Paterson area last year, Mr. McKenzie, has been working very hard with his pitching staff, which in addition to Ball, includes Hazen, John Burdi, and Al Van Riper. Hazen, Burdi and Van Riper can be expected to see a lot of action this year, either in relief or as starters.

It looks like this team will really improve as the season progresses. With some help from the weather, this could be one of the best Cardinal nines of all time!

Cards Bag First Game

Being constantly challenged by the intermittent rains, unseasonably cold weather, and somewhat sloppy playing conditions, the Cardinals successfully opened their 1964 campaign against the Bulldogs of Paterson Tech, at Pennington Park. After a delay of 20 minutes, both teams took the field and played one inning of scoreless ball, till the rains once again descended upon the players and a handful of brave fans. This downpour proved to be enough for a game being played on an adjacent field across the river, but not for the determined Cardinals. The two teams were involved in a deadlock until the top half of the fourth, when Warren Knight walked, stole second, and then scored on a triple up the right-center alley by Larry Ball. This was the only Pompton score, but proved to be sufficient for Larry as he held the Bulldogs scoreless, allowing them only 3 singles. The game went only 5 innings with the Cardinals coming out on top by a slim margin of 1-0.

Students and Teachers Split

The Senior girls and the men's faculty were victorious in the annual faculty-student double-header played here on March 5. The male teachers defeated the Senior all-stars, 52-38, after the Senior girls won their first ever, 26-22, over the female teachers in the opener.

After Mrs. MacMaster popped in a one hander for the women faculty, the Senior girls ran off to an 8-2 lead at the quarter as Barbara Cammon did most of the damage. They lengthened their lead to 19-8 at the half. As substitutes Donna Fream and Theo Uberto were finding the range.

The faculty started to come back as Miss Leonard went on a scoring spree to cut the deficit to one point, 18-17. Two more baskets by the same cager then put the faculty in front, as the Seniors hit a dry spell.

This all led to a fitting climax which saw the Seniors turn the tide after Miss Waskowich scored the teacher's final basket. Theo Uberto sank a layup, and five points by Marilyn Eggerling iced the contest.

In the nightcap, the undermanned Senior boys made a game out of it, as all eight cagers played well. Some good first half shooting by Leroy Hunt and Sam Faucetta kept the boys out in front, although they couldn't contain Charles Kenison, who repeatedly scored on layups. Mr. Aug, however, was checked so well that he had to resort to the role of playmaker, which he did effectively, as Messers Kenison and McKenzie scored on his assists. The Senior boys led 28-24 at the half.

The second half was disastrous to the upperclassmen. As soon as Hunt got into foul trouble, the teachers started controlling the boards, which resulted in many successful fast breaks. In the last 16 minutes the teachers outscored the Seniors, 28-10 enroute to the final score of 52-38.

Meet Mr. Kelly

Mr. Kelly

The Pompton Lakes Board of Education has chosen Mr. Kelly to succeed Coach Benson, who resigned December 6, 1963 to go to Clifton.

Mr. Kelly is to be head of the physical education program of the school for the 1964-65 school year. He is currently the Director of Physical Education and head football and assistant track coach of North Arlington High School.

Mr. Kelly is a resident of Pompton Lakes and comes well recommended to Pompton High from North Arlington. He holds B.A. and M.A. degrees from Panzer College and Montclair State in Physical Education, Administration and Supervision. In the earlier part of his career he served as Director of Physical Education and head football and basketball coach at Pope Pius XII High School.

Next year, Mr. Kelly is scheduled to be head football coach. Last year his team had a 5 wins and 3 loss record. He has a winning percentage as a coach, and was coach of an undefeated State Championship team in 1957. In 1961 he was the North Jersey Conference team.

In an interview with Mr. Kelly, he expressed a hope of having a meeting with any boy interested in playing football next year, and said that any boy from the eighth to the eleventh grade has a great opportunity of making the football team. Mr. Kelly stated that next year a "T" formation would be used, and that it would not be difficult to change to this type of football. Mr. Kelly claimed that much of his success as a coach could be attributed to his assistants, and that Mr. McKenzie and Mr. Holbert will make his first year as coach as successful as possible. During the interview, he remarked repeatedly on the ability of Mr. McKenzie. Mr. Kelly proved himself a very friendly man during these conversations, and it is my opinion that Pompton is lucky to have Mr. Kelly as our new head coach.

As Director of Physical Education, Mr. Kelly intends to improve an already good system and make it the best. He hopes to have freshman sports and to improve the health classes. Next year, Mr. Kelly is striving to have a better physical education program in the elementary school area with an actual teacher assigned to this area. Since North Arlington and Pompton High are about the same size, he hopes the change will not be too great.

The physical education department was enlarged with the appointment of Mr. Jefferson L. Holbert as a new teacher for next year. He will also be assistant football and basketball coach. He is a graduate of West Virginia University with a B.S. and M.S. degrees. He comes with Mr. Kelly from North Arlington's school system. Mr. Kelly calls Mr. Holbert a "terrific man" and the type of man whom students can look up to. Students will truly have to do this, because Mr. Holbert is 6 feet tall and 235 pounds of muscle from the U.S. Marine Corps.

G.A.A.

On March 7, eight Junior girls attended a playday at Paterson State College. They were Carol Ann Bednarek, Barbara Domanski, Judy Douma, Carol Ann Erickson, Leah Gabrielle, Sue Gibson, Pat Heinks, and Cheryl Putnam.

After registering, the girls participated in game provided by the college, such as ping pong and badminton. This was followed by dancing, led by Mr. Bradley, volleyball, then lunch. A tour of the campus and basketball tournaments were next. Finally awards were given to winners and losers alike. Future plans of the G.A.A. include a playday at Fairleigh Dickinson University.

unloaded the bench and the substitutes did a good job, out-scoring the Norsemen subs for the balance of the game. Ken Ball ended up with 15 points to pace the Red-birds, while Rich Dreher had 16, Borger 15, and Lehrer 12 for the victory.

I am sure that I am expressing the feelings of all the hometown fans in congratulating the Cards on a fine season. All good teams have their "ups" and "downs" and the squad shouldn't feel bad for a couple of early season failures. The State Tourney was very indicative of the spirit and hustle shown by the game Cards. It also might be added that all of the advance preparation and summer practice paid off, as the team fulfilled that "next year" tag. Even greater things should come next season. Let's hope so!

Picture missing from Paper. It was cut out, along with part of the box score from the student-faculty game.
